In estimating the value of twenty shillings. In estimating the value of the pound in the United States, all fluctuations of exchange are to be rejected and it is to be decided by metallic value exclusively. Our act of June, 1831, "regulating the value of gold coins in the United States," provides that all British gold coins of not less than 22 carats fine, shall pass current with us as money by weight, not the rate of 94.8 cents per penny weight. ling in the United States, and as such our Mint recognizes it.

The most important fact touched upon by our New York contemporary is that all its correspondents, who have alluded to this subject, have endorsed its recommendation that the exchange on London shall be sold and quoted at its real worth in federal money instead of at the present intricate combination of a given premium on a nominal par value. Thus, instead of 193%, the rate when expressed $4.87% would accord with the method of quoting exchange in other countries.
